Note:

- Distributions from unit trusts authorised under section 286 of the Securities and Futures Act (Cap 289) derived directly by an individual on or after 1st January 2004 will be exempted from tax if such distributions are not considered as gains or profits from any trade, business or profession. A unit holder, other than a qualifying investor, is required to declare in his tax return:
 - the income in column (c) if the unit holder is an individual resident in Singapore and he derives such income through a partnership in Singapore or from the carrying on of a trade, business or profession;
 - the income in columns (c) and (d) in all other cases.
 A qualifying investor means (i) a foreign investor as defined in section 10(23) of the Singapore Income Tax Act; or (ii) a Singapore resident individual who does not derive income (from unit trust) through a partnership in Singapore or from the carrying on of a trade, business or profession.
- This certificate should be carefully preserved as only this original will be accepted by the Income Tax Authorities in connection with any claim to allowance or relief from Income Tax.
- For a unit holder who has invested in the fund using CPF/SRS and opted for dividend payout, the above distribution amount will be credited into his/her CPF Investment Account / CPF-SA Account / SRS Account.
